Monanti, attacked the Sunghie Ujong Police Force stationed there, and captured all the arms, ammunition, &c. They had (it is said) come as far as Faroo where they did a similar thing. By private advice received from Sunghie Ujong, it would seem that Captain Murray, the British Resident, had gone to the front to meet with Lieutenant Peyton in command of the available force stationed there. Mr. Chin Hoon's steamer the Sri Malacca which has lately been chartered by Government, at the rate, I understand, of $80 per day, sailed last Monday afternoon, the 3rd instant, for Lingling with the Hon'ble C. B. & H. Plunket, and Mr. E. C. Hill, Cadet, on board in order to ascertain the true state of affairs at the scene of strife. The vessel returned at 1.30 a.m. the following day, but what news she brought has not been transcribed, but there must be some truth in the report lately current here that the Malays of Sri Menanti aided by others intended attacking Sunghie Ujong, otherwise the military force consisting I believe, of about sixty soldiers would never have been sent there on Wednesday last. At present we are left with a mere handful of soldiers to protect this settlement in case of an attempted raid or invasion of it by hostile Malays in the adjoining territories. It is too bad of Government to leave us so unprotected. There ought always to be at least from 200 to 300 soldiers stationed here, and Malacca should be made the Head Quarters of a regiment.

Two British war steamers arrived here from the southward during the night. One I believe, is H. M. S. Modeste, and the other either the Ringdove or Lily, and I presume their destination for the present is the mouth of the Lookout River.

THE STRAITS TIMES publishes some special correspondence from the scene of the disturbances in the Negri Sembilan. It also learns from later private advice from Rassa, dated 7th instant, that the troops after marching through Johole and Sri Menanti without opposition, returned to Rassa on the 5th instant, but that same night news came of another attack on the Sri Menanti Police Station, which was occupied by about 100 policemen, and a fresh detachment of the 10th had to start for their relief. It would be premature as well as useless to offer any comments upon these disturbances until the receipt of further authentic details of their origin and cause. So far as it can be judged at present the Chiefs seem to have inaugurated a system of guerrilla warfare, attacking policemen, and that only when they can do so with advantage, and retreating before the white soldiers. This is a matter of very serious import—and such tactics will require a considerable amount of tact, firmness, and judgment to counteract them.

ROYAL NAVAL REGATTA.

BELOW we give the results of the five races which, owing to want of time, we were unable to give in our last night's issue. They came to the finish in a rather disorderly manner, so that the Judges themselves were somewhat doubtful as to the accuracy of the results. The last two events did not come off, and it is thought probable that the whole of the matches will be sailed over again, if a favorable opportunity offer.

On account of the equally nature of the weather in the evening, a bright lookout was kept in case any of the boats should come to grief, and one boat belonging to the Naval Yard did actually capsize, but the Newcastle's boat went to the rescue, and fortunately nothing but a ducking was the result of the accident.

THE CHORAL FESTIVAL.

The Choral Festival, which took place yesterday afternoon at St. John's Cathedral, commenced by a shortened form of Even Song sung by the Choir. The service was intoned by the Rev. J. O. Corie, M.A., Chaplain of H.M.S. Audacious, and the lessons were read by the Military Chaplain the Rev. W. H. Baynes, M.A. The Parisian Tones (Stainer) were extremely well done, the singing of the boys, very lightly but beautifully accompanied, being effective to a degree. The cantata "Lauda Sion" (Mendelssohn), which has been in rehearsal for some time, was first given at Liege and written for the Festival of 1846 by the composer. The chorus by which it was sung yesterday consisted of amateurs—ladies and gentlemen—to whom we are indebted for most of the concerted music given here. It however suffers from the disadvantage of a want of unity in the rehearsal, that is to say, it is never convenient for all the members to be present at one single practice, not even the final one. This was the case on the present occasion, and the result is a success much less complete than might have been the case with more united action. When our amateurs consent to take part in these Festivals, their aim should be perfect success, and they should be satisfied with no less. Nothing but a regular attendance at rehearsals can ensure this.

The "Lauda Sion" commences with a short symphony, on the organ, as an introduction to the first chorus, "Praise Jehovah," which notwithstanding it is the most difficult one in the composition was more creditably sung. Then follows the chorale "Hallelujah," which is a slow movement commenced in C minor by the Basses taken up by the Tenors, and continued by Altos and Sopranos. This portion of the Cantata was well begun, and we looked for a more successful termination, but the Tenors failed to keep up to anything like pitch, and at the end were fully half a note flat; with them lies the onus of having weakened the effect of one of the best Choruses. "Sing of Praise" was done with considerable success—and this brings us to the Quartette, which should have been the best piece of the Festival; the Altos, however, were wanting here, and so dragged the time that the beating became useless. An occasional glance at the conductor would remedy this. After the Choral in A minor—a good performance—came the Soprano solo, which was a splendid piece of singing from first to last. The lady who undertook this difficult part is entitled to the highest praise, but we fancy the thanks which will please her best are those every one who heard her feel, but cannot adequately express. The Chorus "Bless the People" came next, and was very well rendered. The Quartette and (Finale) Chorus was then sung, and as the concluding piece of the Cantata should have been better done. There was an unsteadiness apparent, the Chorus not being ready to pick up the parts after the solo.

The Offertory Hymn No. 335, (Hymns Ancient and Modern) was sung by the Full Choir, each verse being differently treated, the opening one in Harmony, the second Sopranos and Altos only, the third Harmony without the Organ, and so on to suit the words. This produced an exceedingly good effect; the Hymn itself is one of Oakeley's and formed a very fitting and beautiful termination to the service. Altogether the Festival may be deemed a good one, when one remembers the difficulty of coaching a Chorus; having to conduct and at the same time play the organ accompaniments with the performers at a distance.

The organ cyphered terribly, so much so that an introductory voluntary, Mendelssohn's, had to be omitted.

The offertory was made on this occasion with the object (the funds being insufficient) of purchasing two new stops for the organ to replace others very much worn and well-nigh useless.

The thanks of the community are due to the conductor, who at all times has been willing to lend his valuable assistance in the cause of music.

(L. & O. Express.)

The Army and Navy Gazette says:—The officers of the 1st Battalion 10th Regiment, now in England, are bitterly complaining, owing to the uncertainty which exists as to the arrangements with regard to their return to the barracks, that the battalion was to move to Gibraltar, and outposts for the Mediterranean were ordered. A decision having lately been come to that the corps should proceed home direct from Singapore on the conclusion of hostilities at Port, orders were given for articles suitable for home service. Now, at the eleventh hour, the former orders are countermanded, and it has been intimated that the battalion is to remain in the Straits for an indefinite period, and all those on leave in England have instructions at once to rejoin. We cannot help thinking that very much of this annoyance might have been spared. No blame whatever attaches to the military authorities, who are quite sensible of the injury which is being done. The fault rests with the Colonial office, and we trust, in the interests of a regiment which was at one time one of the smartest in the Army, but which has naturally deteriorated during the years it has spent in exile, that not a moment may be lost in taking such steps as will prevent the corps suffering the further injury which an extension of its stay at such a station as Singapore would entail.

The Adventure, 2, iron troop-ship, which was condemned as unfit for further service on her arrival home from Japan with the marine battalion a few months back, is to be docked to undergo an inspection, as the Admiralty are desirous to know the real condition she is in.

As regards shipping in Hamburg (writes a correspondent) no alteration has to be reported. Of arrivals from East India and China I have to report the Catharina, Captain Loebe, and the Walker, Captain Siegfried, both from Foochow; Mary Scott, Captain Holmes, from Whampoa; Captain Bremner, arrived, Investors, Captain Fisher, from Hongkong. The Gesta, a.s. for Penang, &c.; Adeline, Captain Blot, for Singapore; Goodell, Captain Crockett, for Manila; Gustave Marie, Captain Dose, and Hanso, Captain Oest, both for Hongkong, are still loading and slowly filling up, no other vessel having taken the berth for the Far East. On the berth are sixty vessels in all, but export cargo is very scarce, and rats in almost every direction are quite nominal.

The Glenlyon (str.), which left London on the 5th inst., has on board a small steam launch for his Majesty the King of Siam, built by Messrs Thornycroft and Co., Osierwick, and of the following dimensions:—Length 82 feet, breadth 7 feet, draught of water 3 feet; constructed to attain a speed of eighteen statute miles per hour. Her internal fittings and accommodation are admirably adapted for a tropical climate.

The Glenlyon put into Falmouth on the 8th with a slight defect in machinery. The Sumatra (str.), loading for the Straits, China, and Japan, will take out a large quantity of iron and other materials to Yokohama for the Japanese Government railways; also a steam dredging machine for the same port.

The Hongkong and Shanghai Bank have issued a prospectus inviting subscriptions for the balance of the Eight per Cent. Chinese Loan brought out last year. The amount is for £274,915, which we conclude will be speedily subscribed, the merits of the loan and securities having been already approved by those "who do know something" of China and the resources upon which the loan is based. The Times in noticing it says:—"After the experience which the public have had of such wonderful investments it would be surprising if the money was subscribed here. We know hardly anything regarding China or its finances except that missionary and official reports speak of a deficit as the normal condition of the latter." We can only regret that such astounding ignorance should be set forth in the columns of our leading contemporary.

LOSS OF THE STEAMER "KWANGTUNG."

By the arrival of the steamer Sunda to-day, we regret to learn of the total wreck of the well-known coasting steamer Kwangtung. She left this port on Wednesday, the 12th instant, on her usual coasting voyage, and at 1.15 a.m. on Sunday, the 16th instant, she ran ashore during a dense fog, on the island of Ocksen, near the landing steps of the lighthouse. For some time after she had gone on shore, minute guns were fired, and these attracted the attention of the Sunda on her downward trip. It was then found from the position of the Kwangtung and the great damage her hull had sustained—the rocks having driven a large hole into the engine-room—that but little hope could be entertained of getting her off or of floating her.

Captain Edmonds of the Sunda then took the treasure from the wrecked vessel, and, as it was blowing and dark, he proceeded on his voyage taking with him the Chief Engineer, whom he subsequently put on board the steamer Amoy, which proceeded to the wreck to render assistance. It is almost certain, therefore, that a considerable quantity of the cargo will be saved—a fact which will doubtless prove interesting to the Insurance Companies.

We are very glad to learn that Captain F. Ashton and all hands are safe on the island.

The officers of the Kwangtung state it as their belief that should a Southerly wind set in she will undoubtedly go to pieces, and they also think it quite unlikely owing to her position that anything can be done to save the hull even should it continue fine. The Yesso passed Ocksen Island about 11.40 p.m. on Sunday about 10 miles to the Eastward of that Island, and reports that she was quite ignorant of any vessel being on shore there, as she heard or saw nothing to indicate that such a catastrophe had happened. The night was very dark with thick fog.

ACCIDENT TO THE "NAMOA."

We also learn from Swatow that the S.S. Namoa, on her passage from Amoy to Foochow, broke her shaft and had to put back to Amoy, where her spare shaft is being got ready. After the accident the 2nd Officer, 3rd Engineer and six of the crew went to Foochow in the ship's boat for assistance. The Namoa's cargo was transhipped into the Kwangtung.

The Foochow Herald of the 13th says:—The Second Officer of the S.S. Namoa arrived late on the evening of the 11th instant, with advice from Captain Westoby, stating that the steamer had broken her propeller shaft. When the Officer left the steamer about 9 a.m. on Monday, she was about 20 miles S.E. of the White Doge—standing slowly towards them under a light South breeze. About two hours later, the wind shifted to N.E., and blew steadily from that quarter all day. On news of the disaster being communicated to Captain Sir W. Wiseman, of H.M.S. Lepus,—at once, most courteously, expressed his willingness to render the Namoa every assistance, and left in search of her, at 1 p.m. yesterday. Owing to the change of wind, it is doubtful whether the steamer Namoa could make the "Dogs"—in which case she would probably make her way towards Amoy. Nothing was seen of the Namoa by the Yesso, which arrived yesterday afternoon.

Swatow.

April 18th.

We have had another disagreeable week as regards the weather. On Friday and Saturday very thick fog, on Sunday it was as hot as in the middle of summer, and yesterday afternoon we had a deluge of rain with thunder and lightning; it still looks very heavy overhead as if we are going to have some more rain. The German steamer Cassandra left on the 14th with 613 coolies for Singapore. The German barque Ingeburg left the port on the 13th for Chefoo, but did not get outside until this morning. H. L. C. M. Sir. Fai Ho returned to port on the 14th, and left yesterday for Amoy. The British str. Foochow arrived from Shanghai on the 14th, and left this morning for the same port via Amoy. The German barque Sudan and the British brig Elliot arrived yesterday, the former from Chefoo, and the latter from Shanghai; they were both at anchor outside for three days on account of the thick fog. The British schooner Augusta arrived this morning from Chefoo. The Empress of China is the name of the schooner that was chartered for Bangkok last week. The German schooner Rebecka leaves to-day for Takao and Chefoo, the British barque Charlotte Andrews for Bangkok. The British steamer Glenearl, for Shanghai, left this afternoon.

Police Intelligence.

April 19, 1876.

VIOLENTLY DRUNK.

Martin O'Marr, marine on board H. M. S. Yopas, was charged with being drunk and refusing to pay chair-hire. He also struck Inspector Thompson when in the Station. Fined $2 and to pay 20 cents amends.

William Jackson, marine H. M. S. Newcastle, was fined 25 cents for drunkenness.

DISEASED BULLOCK.

The Master of a cattle lan, and a cattle dealer, again appeared before Mr. May to answer the charge of keeping a diseased bullock unfit for human food. Dr. Ayres, the Colonial Surgeon, deposed at the last sitting to having examined the bullock, which he found to be suffering from inflammation of the bowels. It was in tolerably fair condition, but had been pulled down by the disease, and in that state it was not fit for food.—Inspector Orley proved the discovery of the animal lying on a ground close to the first defendant's shop. It was without shelter, so he took it to a shed at Shek-long-lau. The first denied that the bullock belonged to him, nor was it offered to him for purchase. It was tied up on the piece of ground opposite his house. The second defendant was that man. The second said the bullock belonged to him. He bought it at Tai Loong in Tong-koon for $15 on the 4th or 5th instant. He drove the animal to Sun-chow which occupied two days. There it was put on board a passage boat for Hongkong. Owing to bad weather the passage took three days and three nights, but under ordinary circumstances it should have been only a little more than one day. There were many bullocks in the boat and during the voyage they had no food to eat or water to drink. There was no room in the boat to carry food owing to the large number of bullocks on board. Defendant himself had nothing to eat or drink. He carried none with him, nor could he eat or drink owing to being sea-sick. When the bullock was landed, it could walk, but afterwards it got sick. He brought it here for sale, but did not sell it.—Mr. Bedell Le Yan said the distance from Sunchow to Hongkong was about 45 miles, and the voyage in good weather could be made in twelve hours. Inspector Orley added that he had ascertained that there were ten bullocks brought in that junk. He had examined the other nine; these were thin but healthy. When the boat left Sunchow, the crew believed they could make the passage here on the same day, but the boat was blown off the land and did not arrive until the expiry of three days. The sick bullock was recovering and would probably get quite well again. Under the circumstances, the defendants were discharged.

MORE VIOLENT DRUNKENNESS.

Charles Hine, seaman, Thos. Williams, mariner, and George Talor, seaman H. M. S. Newcastle, were charged with being drunk and disorderly. They were seen by Inspector Cleaver to have gone into a private lane next to No. 4 Station. The Inspector followed them, as he thought they might get into trouble. He advised them to go away and showed them the right way to get aboard. An Indian Constable came up and one of the defendants began to abuse him. The Inspector thereupon ordered the Constable to return to his beat. The 2nd defendant ran after him and struck him. The 3rd defendant also wanted to run up to the Constable, but the Inspector prevented him and took him to the Station. Meantime Inspectors McKinney and O'Brien and Constable Foley came on the scene. The first defendant struck Inspector McKinney, caught hold of his whiskers and pulled some out, so that he had to be thrown down. When they were taken to the Charge Room at No. 2 Station, they were very violent and two of them refused to be searched, so that they had to be overpowered by force. An Officer from the Newcastle gave the 1st and 3rd defendants a good character, but did not know much of the marine. Fined, the first defendant $10, in default 14 days' hard labour; the second, $3, in default 7 days' imprisonment; and the third, 50 cents.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.

George Beardy, a marine on board H. M. S. Yopas, was charged with having gone into the cook-house of Mr. Burrows when drunk, and broke crockery to the value of $2. He also made a hole on the top of a sedan chair. He took up a pick-axe and ran after a cook with it, but did not strike him. A policeman was called, and the defendant was ordered into custody by the Major-General. Fined $2 and to pay $2 amends.

LACERTY.

Two coal-coolies were charged with stealing some pieces of clothing and a house-coupling on board the steamer Mosca. They were sent to two and four months' hard labour respectively.

THE CHARGES AGAINST THEODORE W. ECKFELDT.

A Preliminary investigation of the charges against Theodore W. Eckfeldt took place on the 14th instant, in the Court of the United States Consulate General, before O. B. Bradford, Esq., U. S. Vice-Consul. Mr. Eames appeared for the prosecution and Mr. Robinson for the defence. Mr. Robinson raised an objection to Mr. Bradford sitting in the case, as he could not see that a Vice-Consul had any such judicial authority. He was however corrected by Mr. Bradford, who read from the Statute that the word Consul should be understood to mean Consul-General, Consul and Vice-Consul. The examination was simply to produce sufficient evidence against the accused to justify the Court in holding him in further custody, and also in sending him before a jury for trial. Mr. W. Scott Fitz, of partner of the firm of Messrs Russell & Co., appeared against the accused, who had been a number of years in their employ. He had charge of the issuing of tickets to foreign passengers travelling by the S.S.N. Co.'s steamers. On the 16th April 1875, the accused issued a ticket to General Rasmloff, for Tientsin, by the Shantung, and in the counterfoil, kept by the accused, and the amount of passage money paid was shown as Tls. 40. There was another ticket issued at the same time to a Mr. Schultz for Tientsin by the same steamer, and the amount of passage money shown in the counterfoil was also Tls. 40. But in another book, kept by the accused, which contains a record of all the passengers travelling by the S. N. Co.'s steamers, the amount money paid by General Rasmloff was only shown as Tls. 30, and that paid by Mr. Schultz the same. This money was paid by an order through the U. S. Consulate-General for $ 69.50 or Tls. 80, out of which the Company were only credited with Tls. 60. In the passenger-list kept by the Captain of the Shantung, the names of General Rasmloff and Mr. Schultz were down as having proceeded to Tientsin on the same steamer. A Mr. Bassel had a return ticket for Tientsin issued to him at Tls. 50. In the counterfoil Mr. Bassel's name did not appear—only "Astor House" but in the passenger record book Mr. Bassel's name appeared, though against it there was no amount, a line being drawn through the money column, implying that no passage money had been paid in Shanghai. There was a similar case of a Mr. Sutton who travelled by the same steamer to Tientsin and back for Tls. 50. In the Captain's passenger-list their names appeared as having gone to Tientsin on a return ticket. In the same list the name of a Mr. Cowier appeared as holding a ticket; but the counterfoil did not show that any such ticket had been issued, nor was there any record of it in the passenger-book. The amount of the passage-money was Tls. 30. The counterfoil under date of 21st February 1876 showed that a ticket had been issued to Mr. Trebbing, for Chefoo, per steamer Milford, for Tls. 20, 25¢ least was signed by the accused, and in the passenger-list of the Milford Mr. Trebbing's name appeared; but in the passenger-book there was no entry. In this instance Mr. Fitz had made some enquiries as to whether there were any passengers leaving by the Milford, and was informed that there was one. The day after the steamer had gone, he asked the accused if any passengers had left by the Milford; and he said none. The money had never been accounted for to the house. The amount of the claim filed against accused was Tls. 8,000. Mr. Eames addressed a few words to the Court to the effect that sufficient evidence had been given to warrant the commitment of the accused for larceny and embezzlement. He could produce more evidence, and substantiate the charge of larceny by calling Messrs Russell & Co.'s comptroller, but he thought it was not necessary; all that was required was the retention of the accused in custody until he could be properly indicted and tried. Mr. Robinson replied that even admitting the evidence that had been given to be true, it was not sufficient to convict the accused, but no attempt had been made to prove one of the charges. After a little argument between the counsel, Mr. Bradford committed the accused to take his trial before a jury. A copy of the indictment would be served upon him as soon as the charges were framed.—Shanghai Courier.
